Silver King. At the delinquent sale of the Silver King mining company in San Francisco recently, a total of about 14,000 shares were sold for non payment of the assessments. This was bought in chiefly by the company. Among the stock thus sold was a certificate of 600 shares standing in the name of Lucius E. Garfield, widow of the late President Garfield. This stock has been in the Garfield family for a number of years, having been bought at a time when the Silver King mine was a bonanza and paying dividends.

If a good-looking young man drives up to your house in a cart and asks you all about your financial condition, cattle, stock, poultry, watches, jewelry, etc., don't conclude that he is a burglar; it's only the assessor. But when the other fellow comes along a little later and asks you age, color, nationality if you have ever been to the penitentiary or committed crimes and escaped conviction; is particularly inquisitive about your family secrets—he is the census taker, and growl at your temper under his impertinence, try and do so; otherwise fire him out bodily.

Come in and bring the family. We've got something to suit everybody—except, perhaps, the dog. We are making a special run this week on China, Crockery, Lamps and Glassware, of which we have a splendid assortment. Must clear it out inside of sixty days to admit our big supply of Spring Goods.

Owing to our very large trade and our strictly cash system, we can make you better prices than the next fellow. Try us and see if this is not so. Come in and see us whether you buy or not, we will take pleasure in showing you our stock.

GOLD GALORE.
Rich Strike in the Vicinity of Dudleyville—
—Course Gold and Plenty of It.

DUDLEYVILLE, March 31, 1890.
EDITOR ENTERPRISE:—Your readers have doubtless heard a faint rumor of the recent gold strike in this vicinity and a full account of the same I think will be of interest, therefore I begin with the LITTLE MAGGIE.

The above named claim is within a few hundred yards of the bridge built by the San Carlos copper company across the Gila river on the road between Tucson and Globe. The vein is from forty to fifty feet in width, cropping out boldly on the steep slope of a high hill. At the foot of the hill and about 200 feet below the cropping, in a flat several acres in extent, on which a mill could be erected, while ample power could be obtained by simply taking out a ditch a mile and a half above, the fall along this particular portion of the river is very great, yet the conformation of its banks is such that very little fluming or piping would be necessary.

What this big ledge will run to, the I am unable to say, but panning tests made from samples taken from the ledge have resulted in $20 to $400. Therefore I should judge it to be an extremely valuable property, considering the great advantages incident to its wonderfully favorable location.

THE KILLER BLY.
Is a few hundred feet east of the Little Maggie, is a good deal smaller than the latter but also a great deal richer. The vein on the surface was but a few inches thick, but as depth was attained it gained in width until now, at thirty five feet, it shows a strong four-foot vein of high grade ore, with one particular streak on the foot wall showing fine gold all throughout. It is said that the Little Maggie and the property of Messrs. Moore & Anderson.

THE ORO.
Comes next, and is to be found a quarter of a mile eastward from the claims first described. It is a two-foot vein, averaging $80 to the ton. A little to the southward are to be found the Nugget, the Gila Monster and the Big Ledge, the ledge on which they are located showing throughout the full length of the three claims, and panning tests give high results from each and all. A little further to the southward we find the Contact, the Humboldt, the Saturn and the Red Cloud, all showing fine gold and rich sulphurets of iron; the latter is particularly rich. Then we come to the latest and most astonishingly rich strike

THE SUNSET.
The vein intersects a broad point lying between the deep gulch, down which runs the road to Globe, and Ash Creek. It is a strong contact vein between granite and porphyry, showing four feet of ore, running the full length of four hundred dollars, with a streak on the foot wall from 4 to 8 inches in width giving results, in very coarse free gold, of from one to ten thousand dollars per ton. The ledge is a full over a length of six hundred feet along the ledge.

The marvel is that the richness of this treasure was not discovered long before, lying as it does so close to a wagon road, and a running creek near at hand to test it. The fortunate owners of the bonanza are Messrs. Melior & Young.

Of the permanency and value of a great number of ledges in this new district there can be no doubt. They are simply iron sulphurets of iron, the free gold so far found resulting from their decomposition. The sulphurets, though are extremely rich, so that there is here presented a very profitable concentrating proposition, considering the water to be obtained so close at hand, for power and other purposes.

The above has not been written with the intention of creating a great rush hither, for it would be a useless waste of time for any one to come here expecting to find ledges unlocated. The only kind of people needed here at present are the emissaries of capital.

RANCHER.
Gentlemen's class in dancing will meet Monday and Thursday evenings.

Wm. Clarke left this morning for Wilcox where he will purchase a home and make his residence for the present. When Florence gets railroad communication with the outside world Mr. Clarke will return again. In the meantime he will make frequent visits to look after his interests here.

A. J. Kent, a sign and ornamental painter, lately a resident of New Mexico, has arrived in Florence. He will probably conclude to cast his lot with its people.

The Directors of the Building and Loan Association will meet at A. T. Colton's office on Monday evening, at which time the regular instalment of dues are payable.

The District Court will meet next Monday. If the programme is not changed Chief Justice Wright will preside.

Billy Reid is enthusiastic in his praise of the enterprising people of this town. He says that it will soon be the best town in Arizona.—Star.

Red Rock Items.

Red Rock, April, March, 29th.
The Red Rock was finished and obtained a splendid supply of good water at 625 feet. The new smelter is about to be erected. Mines continue to look as favorable; high grade ore, from the day state, looks well. The erection of a hoist will commence soon. The timber is on the ground for it. James Quigley is still knocking away at the Atlas well on his hard rock. J. F. Foyle has charge of his interests there. H. K. Cole, the General Manager, is East and is expected back soon. James A. Morehead is the mine foreman and is a competent man; he has from Kingston, N. M. Twenty-six men in all are employed on the mines. THE ENTERPRISE is as welcome as ever and pronounced the best paper in the Territory. Yours etc., "TOMPOCO."

Just received from New York an elegant line of embroideries at HAWLEY'S.

A Good Signal Point.
Lieut. Gale of the 4th U. S. cavalry was in the city yesterday. He has recently returned from the Rincon mountains, where he has been looking up and locating the most practical point for a signal station. He found that from one of the peaks of the Rincon he can signal Lowell, Grant, Bowie and Huachuca. The farthest is Bowie, which is sixty-five miles, but the coast is clear and on a clear day the signal service can be carried on without the least difficulty between these four military posts. Then it will be seen that in case of an Indian outbreak there would not be a single shot for the Indians if they moved in this direction, as they could be cut off by troops from Lowell, Bowie and Huachuca.—Star.

De Noon Items.

The weather for the entire month of March has been very pleasant up to today last when it set in to rain and continued to rain steadily till this morning, which is a Godsend especially to the ranchers of the country, as it will insure them plenty of summer grass for their stock. Snow capped summits can be seen in all directions.

The prospects for De Noon are a little better at present than they have been heretofore. The Reymert is working more men now and if the company succeeds in getting sufficient water, a still greater force will be put on. Although the boring for water at the De Noon is abandoned it is rumored that the company intend placing a pump on Queen Creek and forcing water through pipes to the mine and mill a distance of about four miles. This is a step in the right direction and the general opinion is that it will prove to be both economical and satisfactory.

The most important event of this being a horse race was a horse race, which took place last Saturday morning, which was a Godsend especially to the ranchers of the country, as it will insure them plenty of summer grass for their stock. Snow capped summits can be seen in all directions.

Green in the eye, while dark shade will be a color permanently set in mixed suitings and spring overcoatings.

In diagonals and in wide, wide shades for getting, topside the effect, the shades are quickly effective to a quite fine suitable degree.

The double breasted long sack reding jacket, made to be loosely, is the bright particular hit of this season in the clothing business.

The extraordinarily howling latest winkle in shirt stands is to have the old style shirt buttons sewed on in the good old way, and button through the upper flap of the bosom.

The style in man's straw hats for the coming season will tend more to the fanciful than last season. The silk hat bands will be in a variety of well chosen solid colors and combination.

Some of the ultra swells will wear white waistcoats when the thermometer is down near freezing point. The material is washable, but infinitely warmer than the summer nature.

The velvet collar on the finer smocked styles of men's topsuits are being made more liberal than heretofore. With the collar these new measures fully two and one-half inches of turnover.

The plain wide bosomed dress shirt continues to be more prevalent among the swells, although the efforts to bring more prominently forward the embroidered shirt front does not abate in the least.

The negligee shirtings will be offered in silks, silk velvets, plain and fancy flannels, madras, chevrons, marvellous and other special fabrics in variety fivefold greater than last season.—Clothing and Furnisher.

death in a camp portends misfortune. In this mountain they made a permanent camp.

One day Dr. Thorne went out with his two youthful companions to hunt with bows and arrows, and on the way with a willow leg that the doctor had made for him, accidentally stepped into a crevice and broke it. The Indian thought it to be a bad omen and at once moved camp eastward on the day's travel, and camped in a cottonwood flat where the Indians planted beans. At this camp the running waters of the Salto river could be heard at night. The doctor went out hunting almost every day with one of his companions and on one of these trips he picked up a nugget of gold from the bare bedrock in a wash west of some small, very red hills. At this place there might have been perhaps five thousand dollars in gold nuggets in sight. Dr
